Academy of Integrative Health & Medicine

Integrative Health Month

1/1–1/31/2024

Integrative Health Month recognizes the growing importance of transforming the disease-care model into a holistic one – mind, body, spirit, community, and planet. Throughout the month, organizations around the globe will shine a light on the contributions of integrative health and medicine practitioners as well as raise awareness among consumers about the benefits of synergizing modern medicine with centuries-old natural therapies.

ADRP

National Blood Donor Month

1/1–1/31/2024

January has been designated as National Blood Donor Month to encourage people to give or pledge to give blood at least two or more times a year. Blood is typically in short supply during the winter months – especially January— due to the holidays, travel schedules, inclement weather, and illness. A reduction in donor turnout can cause blood shortages around the country.

American Academy of Ophthalmology

Glaucoma Awareness Month

1/1–1/31/2024

Glaucoma is a leading cause of irreversible blindness in the US. It has no noticeable symptoms in its early stages, and vision loss progresses at such a gradual rate that people affected by the condition are often unaware of it until their sight has already been compromised. During Glaucoma Awareness Month, the American Academy of Ophthalmology (AAO) advises the public that the best defense against developing glaucoma-related blindness is by having routine, comprehensive eye exams.

American Lung Association

Radon Action Month

1/1–1/31/2024

Radon is a gas that can build up to dangerous levels inside homes, schools, and other buildings without anyone knowing it. It also has been found to cause lung cancer. Every home should be tested for radon and fixed if levels are high. This Radon Awareness Month, test your home for radon. Testing is easy and inexpensive, and it could save your life.

American Academy of Ophthalmology

Age-Related Macular Degeneration Awareness Month

2/1–2/29/2024

Age-related macular degeneration (AMD) is the leading cause of blindness among older Americans, but new treatments have dramatically changed the course of this disease over the last 10 years, making AMD more manageable than ever before. During AMD Awareness Month in February, the American Academy of Ophthalmology (AAO) is reminding people with AMD that they can save their vision—thanks to recent treatment advances, but early detection is a critical first step.

National Trauma Awareness Month

5/1–5/31/2024

National Trauma Awareness Month launched in 1988 when the ATS and Congress established May as National Trauma Awareness Month (NTAM). We are proud to be offering our 36th year of NTAM and our efforts continue to provide themed prevention programs and education for all ages. Through this campaign, the ATS was the first organization to advocate for the prevention of "Red Light Running". Subsequent years have highlighted the risks of falls, distracted driving, violence prevention, firearm violence prevention, sports injuries and many other important injury prevention topics.

National Association of Health Unit Coordinators, Inc. (NAHUC)

Health Unit Coordinator Recognition Week

8/23-8/29/2024

The job of a professional health unit coordinator is interesting and wide in scope. The health unit coordinator acts as the communications liaison between all the various departments in the health care facility, including nurses, physicians, other professional staff, ancillary staff, patients, and visitors. Communication between these groups needs coordination. The health unit coordinator provides that. An H.U.C. maintains patient and unit records, orders supplies and services, and manages the physician's orders. In short, they are a vital force in facilitating the team effort required in a health care unit.

11/1–11/30/2024

National Hospice and Palliative Care Month (HAPCM) is a time for the hospice and palliative care community nationwide to raise awareness and promote education about the value of hospice and palliative care. HAPCM is an impactful opportunity to engage in a national conversation about the importance of serious-illness and end-of-life care that is patient-centered and goal-oriented. The National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization (NHPCO) has materials available online for members to utilize throughout November in recognition of HAPCM and encourages all individuals and organizations to participate using the provided hashtags. For additional information on hospice, palliative care, coping with serious illness, advance care planning and more, please visit NHPCO's consumer website, www.CaringInfo.org.

American Lung Association

World Pneumonia Day

11/12–11/12/2024

World Pneumonia Day serves as a reminder that pneumonia can strike at any age, anywhere, and anytime. It's commonly a complication of a respiratory infection — especially the flu — but there are more than 30 different causes of the illness. Older adults, children, and people with chronic disease, including chronic obstructive pulmonary disease and asthma, are at high risk for pneumonia.

American Academy of Ophthalmology

Safe Toys and Celebrations Month

12/1–12/31/2024

Roughly one in 10 children's eye injuries that result in a trip to the ER are caused by toys. In support of Safe Toys and Celebrations Month, the American Academy of Ophthalmology (AAO) advises parents to be cautious when choosing gifts for children and recommends avoiding those that launch projectiles, such as crossbows and BB guns. The AAO also offers tips on how to safely open champagne to keep New Year's celebrations from turning tragic.

Henry the Hand Foundation

National Handwashing Awareness Week

12/1–12/7/2024

A harm reduction infection prevention behavior strategy to teach The Four Principles of Hand Awareness: 1. WASH your hands when they are dirty and BEFORE eating. 2. DO NOT cough into your hands. 3. DO NOT sneeze into your hands. 4. Above all, DO NOT put your fingers into your eyes, nose, or mouth. The Four Principles of Hand Awareness have been endorsed by the AMA and AAFP. Practicing these four Principles teach adults and children the role hands play in respiratory and gastro-intestinal infectious diseases to effectively prevent contracting these diseases. And help to reduce HAIs (health care associated infections).
